

Public Aid Is Sought In Deaths $6,500 in Rewards Offered for Clues

Chicago, Oct. 22 (AP)—Authorities, who have watched one possible clue after another fade as worthless, made a new bid to the general public today for help in solving the murders of three boys.

In issuing the plea, State's Atty. John K. Gutknecht promised to "protect" anyone supplying information.

ALSO, HE WARNED that, by having and withholding a lead to the crime, a person "may be an accessory for or after the fact."

The prosecutor said persons with information "may dislike or fear the publicity that may result in their disclosures, but I will be able to protect them."

Law enforcement officials and private citizens have posted rewards totaling $6,500 for clues leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer or killers of Robert Peterson, 14, and the Schuessler brothers, John, 13, and Anton Jr., 11.

THE BOYS were strangled sometime Sunday night after visiting at least two northwest side bowling establishments in search of an alley on which they could bowl.

After four days of one of Chicago's biggest investigations, the hottest lead appeared to be an old blue automobile.

Several witnesses have reported seeing such a car in a wooded area northwest of the city at various times Tuesday before the boys' naked bodies were found in a ditch there.

BUT NO ONE got the car's license number. Some said it was a Ford; others a Plymouth.

Edward Rohlfes, 47, an unemployed laborer, and his daughter, Mrs. Joan Malecke, 19, said they were driving through the forest preserve about two hours before the bodies were found. They said they saw three hatless young men in a weather-beaten blue car near the ditch.

Others had told of seeing an old blue car in the forest preserve earlier Tuesday.

POLICE SAID a lie detector test confirmed Rohlfes' report.

Sheriff's deputies went to Brookville, Ind., yesterday to question a girl who told police she had seen the bodies dumped into the ditch while she was in Chicago last weekend. They reported that she actually had no knowledge of the slaying except what she had read or heard.

Funeral services for the Schuessler boys were to be held today. Young Peterson was buried Thursday.

ICC to Propose Stiff Regulations On Truck Brakes

Washington, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) is about to propose stiffer truck brake regulations aimed at substantially reducing "loss of control type accidents" like those which caused 10 deaths recently in Pennsylvania and Maryland.

This was announced yesterday by ICC Commissioner Richard F. Mitchell as leaders of the American Trucking Assn. (ATA) voted "wholehearted" support of a recommendation that each unit of tractor-trailer combinations be equipped with separate brake systems. The ATA's executive committee forwarded the proposal of the ICC.

Commissioner Mitchell, chairman of ICC's motor carrier division, said in a statement there have been "clearly evident" failures by some members of the trucking industry to comply with ICC safety rules. Mitchell demanded "complete compliance."

Mitchell said statistics show that in the first half of 1955 truck mileage rose 14 per cent while the number of fatal truck accidents went up 33 per cent.

Lewis C. Kibbee, secretary of the organization's equipment and maintenance council, said recent accidents at West Newton and Kittanning, Pa., and Cumberland, Md., have helped "draw public attention to the efforts of the organized trucking industry to improve heavy duty braking systems."

State CE Head Dies in Crash

French Draft Bill Calling For New Vote

Paris, Oct. 22 (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure and his key ministers drafted today the text of a bill calling for parliamentary elections in December. The new national legislature would be installed in February.

THE BILL is to be filed in the national assembly Tuesday, backed by the government's demand for urgent action.

Pierre-Henri Teitgen, overseas minister, told reporters the bill would end the present assembly's tenure Feb. 2. The new legislature presumably would be sworn in the following day. Under the French constitution, a delay of at least three weeks is required between elections and the opening of a new assembly.

Zeitgen said the bill has a preamble setting forth the reasons why the life of the present assembly should be ended six months ahead of time and a new assembly installed early in the year. These include "fundamental decisions" which he said France must make early in 1956 on relations with North Africa, east-west relations and European unity.

MOST FRENCHMEN are convinced Faure faces a better fight to get the bill passed.

The premier announced the plan last night after it had been approved by the cabinet. He reserved the right to step in with a demand for a vote of confidence if the assembly does not readily agree to its own dissolution.

Never in French history has a legislature hastened its own end, and this one under the normal five-year term of its office has a lease on life until the regular elections in June, 1956.

THE PREMIER said "very grave decisions" must be made soon and the deputies should not (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Boosts Chances for Road Bill to Pass in Congress

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 22 (AP)—Prospects for congressional passage of a multi-billion-dollar highway program next year appeared greatly brightened today with a statement by Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

The administration, Weeks said yesterday, "would accept bond financing, or a program supported entirely by taxes, or a combination of both" in order to win enactment of a highway bill.

The House rejected both President Eisenhower's giant roadbuilding plan and a Democratic-sponsored version last July amid a dispute over how to pay the costs. The Eisenhower program called for raising 21 billion dollars through 30-year bonds, while the rival bill by Rep. Fallon (D-Md.) provided for some 12½ billion dollars in added automotive taxes over the next 16 years.

Last-minute attempts to work out a compromise in financing methods drew little support, and speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the split meant highway legislation was dead for this year and "probably for the next year too."

Rosendale Theatre Hit Hard

Damage May Keep Business Closed

The Rosendale Theatre, twice flooded by high waters from the Rondout creek within two months, may not reopen, The Freeman learned today.

Checking a report that the theatre might be removed to Tillson, it was discovered that the flood last weekend had caused such extensive damage that the movie house might not be able to open again.

Stevenson Endorses 90% Props

(By The Associated Press)

Adlai E. Stevenson stirred political talk among midwest Democratic leaders yesterday with a strong endorsement of 90 per cent of parity price supports for basic farm crops.

Sen. Kefauver (Tenn.), another prominent possibility for the Democratic presidential nomination next year, also hit heavily on the farm problem in his first major political speech of the fall. And New York's Gov. Averell Harriman, likewise talked of for the Democratic nomination, was billed for a major address on farm matters tonight.

None of the three possible Democratic candidates won endorsement from Henry A. Wallace yesterday, however.

WALLACE, a onetime New Deal cabinet member and vice president under President Roosevelt who now calls himself an independent, said in South Salem, N. Y., he favors President Eisenhower for President again next year "to further the cause of world peace."

Wallace, the Progressive Party nominee for President in 1948, said he had "the greatest admiration and respect" for Stevenson, Kefauver and Harriman. But Eisenhower "represents more than any other man the world's hope for peace," Wallace said, and "this outweighs all other considerations."

Eisenhower himself conferred for 25 minutes yesterday in Denver with Atty. Gen. Brownell, a top administration political strategist. But Brownell said there was no talk of politics, and elsewhere on the Republican political scene there was relative quiet.

One exception: In New York, California's Gov. Goodwin Knight said he would be a "favorite son" candidate for the 1956 GOP nomination if Eisenhower does not seek reelection.

AN AIDE SAID after Knight's news conference statement, however, that this does not mean the governor is seeking the presidential nomination. He said it is in line with Knight's previous declaration—criticized by backers of Vice President Nixon—that he intends to insure an uncommitted California delegation to next year's Republican National Convention.

Writes Watson of Attitude

Youth Work Delegates Are Scored by Bishop

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP)—The Roman Catholic bishop of Albany Friday denounced what he called "widespread disregard of moral and spiritual values" on the part of delegates to the recent statewide conference on juvenile delinquency.

The Most Rev. William A. Scully asserted that "many invited to the conference seemed totally unaware of our traditional American heritage founded upon belief in God and man's responsibility to God."

The bishop's remarks were in a letter to Thomas J. Watson Jr., chairman of the temporary state commission on youth and delinquency. Watson is president of International Business Machines Corp.

Asserting that the delegates "depreciated facts such as sin and personal responsibility under Almighty God" the bishop said: "It seemed to me the delegates that the solution of juvenile delinquency lies essentially in services, not in the services of God and obedience to law, both natural and positive."

More than 600 educators, religious leaders, social workers, law enforcement officers, government officials and others connected with youth work met in Albany to draft programs for combatting youthful waywardness. Their recommendations are to be submitted to Gov. Harriman and the Legislature.

Bishop Scully, who is chairman of the state Catholic Welfare Committee, offered this seven-point program aimed at overcoming delinquency:

1. Consideration of more widespread development of parent education and counseling serv-

Specialist Visits President

Recovery Report May Come Today

Denver, Oct. 22 (AP)—Dr. Paul Dudley White arrived here today to reexamine President Eisenhower and tell the American people later what the prospects are now for his complete recovery.

The Boston heart specialist landed at 7:25 a. m. (MST) at Lowry Air Force Base a few minutes after a medical bulletin reported the President feeling both "refreshed and in his usual jovial mood" after a good night's sleep of almost nine hours.

DR. WHITE'S arrival coincided with the start of the fifth week of hospitalization of the President since his heart attack Sept. 24.

Dr. White carried a small cardboard carton which he said contained coffee he said was given him as a "present" for the Eisenhower.

On the Columbine, the President's personal ship, with White, were Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, the army's heart specialist at Walter Reed Hospital; Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son, and Sherman Adams, the President's chief deputy.

They went directly to an air force field mess for breakfast before going to Fitzsimons Army Hospital for medical examinations and consultations.

THESE EXAMINATIONS will form the basis for White's third news conference between 1 and 2 p. m. (MST) this afternoon in which he will report on the President's progress and outline a program of convalescence for the next two weeks.

Unless plans are changed, the President will remain at Fitzsimons Army Hospital a minimum of two more weeks. White has said he will return for a fourth consultation two weeks from today.

Lauds 156th For Field Maneuvers

Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkins, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, this week received a letter from Major General R. C. Brock, commanding officer, 27th Armored Division, New York National Guard, commending local guardsmen.

The communication also revealed the official reason for the 156th being changed from assignment to the 27th Armored Division and assigned as a separate command under the influence of corps artillery.

GENERAL BROCK'S letter said "Recent requests of the Department of the Army and the National Guard Bureau, together with mobilization requirements of the New York National Guard, have made necessary your battalion's reassignment to II Corps Artillery."

"I consider your battalion one of the finest artillery battalions I have had the pleasure of commanding. Your performance during the division's annual field training aided this division in the accomplishment of our training mission and high rating," General Brock said.

Sees No Block to Bring 170,000 State, Municipal Workers in Social Security

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP)—Some 170,000 New York state and municipal employees may soon be eligible for the federal Social Security program at no cost other than their normal retirement fund payments, says the counsel for the state committee on pensions.

The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle quoted H. Eliot Kaplan as saying that under proposed legislation the state would take two per cent of the five per cent the employees now contribute for retirement, and match it with state funds to pay the four per cent the government takes for Social Security protection.

Kaplan addressed a meeting of the New York State Association of Corporation Councils here last night.

Kaplan was quoted as saying he saw no block to the proposed legislation at the next session, other than the cost to the taxpayers. He did not elaborate, nor did he estimate the cost of such a plan.

Both major parties have said they would back legislation which would allow state and municipal employees to participate in the Social Security program.

entitled to survivors benefits under the Social Security law if she met the federal requirements.

Kaplan said also that when the retired person reached 65 federal benefits would be collected but that the state pension payments would be reduced to bring the total payments to the level he would normally receive when he retired.

If however, the employee retired with a pension payment less than the maximum payment under Social Security, his total pension would be raised when he was 65 to meet the maximum Social Security benefit.

The federal government last year opened the Social Security program to state and municipal workers for the first time, but left the details of the program to the states.

7-Point Program Proposed Claims President Modernized Party

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits said today the Republican party—if President Eisenhower does not seek reelection—can win in 1956 with a candidate dedicated "to carrying out the Eisenhower policies and principles."

In a prepared address, Javits told the 29th annual convention of the Columbian Republican League of the State of New York that Eisenhower has given the GOP "a new doctrine of progressive moderation."

"THE PRESIDENT, himself," Javits said, "has never stopped pounding home the fact that no man or group of men is indispensable—only principles are indestructible."

"The greatest service we of the Republican party in New York state can perform is to do our share to see that control of Republican policies does not fall into the hands of those who would seize upon the President's illness to turn back the clock and try to regain control of the party for outmoded ideas."

Javits proposed the following seven-point program "at the state level upon the President's illness to turn back the clock and try to regain control of the party for outmoded ideas."

1. HEALTH: A program to meet the needs of state employees, the aged, the unemployed, and the indigent. Special help for rural areas. State contribution toward cost of medical care for its employees by means "which will not put medicine under control of the state or interfere with the private doctor-patient relationship."

2. AID TO EDUCATION: Increased state aid for school modernization, although "federal aid is clearly indicated—certainly for school construction."

3. HIGHER EDUCATION: Expanded opportunities for more scholarships, expansion of community colleges and establishment of greater means for training youths to work abroad.

4. JUVENILE DELINQUENCY: Expand and diversify correctional institutions, with New York city "entitled to special consideration" because of its high rate of juvenile offenders.

5. IMPROVED MOTOR VEHICLE PROGRAM: Need for compulsory automobile insurance, periodic inspection of motor vehicles and physical tests for drivers.

6. STATE FARM PROGRAM: An agricultural policy based on the "present federal concept of flexible price supports based on (Continued on Page 12, Col. 4)

Princess Is Still Undecided, Court Circles Indicate

London, Oct. 22 (AP)—Princess Margaret hasn't made up her mind to say "yes" to marriage to Peter Townsend, reports from court circles said today.

Smiling and waving, the 25-year-old princess and the divorced commoner drove their different ways from a private party in Bohemian Chelsea early today. It was their eighth date in nine days since Townsend flew home on a vacation from his air attaché's post in Brussels.

Snuggling deep into the collar of her blue mink coat, Margaret was driven away from the six-hour party in a borrowed limousine shortly after 1 a. m. Her own stately Rolls-Royce was damaged in a collision, but the royal garage wasn't saying where or when.

The 40-year-old Townsend, beaming as though he had not a care in the world, waved her off and then hurried home himself. The couple were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Brand at their three-story Georgian House.

Mrs. Brand is the former Laura Smith of a wealthy British bookstore family and long a member of the "Princess Margaret set." The Princess is godmother to her infant son.

Townsend went to the party with Mark Bonham Carter, husband of the former Lady St. (Continued on Page 12, Col. 3)

Your Life And Mine

By Clyde Herbert Snell

HUNTING SEASON

We are fast approaching that particular segment of the year which rejoices the heart of every sportsman—the hunting season. During these lengthening fall evenings every man who loves a gun checks, oils and fondles it in anticipation of the day when it can be fired lawfully at the game which, as yet, wanders about safely in the forest.

There is another side to hunting which, I confess, has always bothered me a little. (Maybe I'll get shot for suggesting it!) What calamity must fall upon the dreams of a nest when one of the partners in that dreaming fails to return because a hunter came that way? And I would the same man hold true of the animals. Human beings, of course, have no way of knowing what death means to a feathered or a furry household. Do birds feel the pangs of sorrow when a mate does not return? Do animals experience anything like grief when death comes to their kind? Who knows? We have no basis for judgment. All we can do is wonder about it and bring imagination into play. And when we do it is almost impossible for me to think that death in a bird's or an animal's household never even makes a ripple of difference with experience.

Having raised the question I had better hasten to add that I quite realize the fanatical possibilities of such a philosophy. This thought, for example, can be pushed to absurdity to include the tragedy which invades a mosquito's household because one gets swatted while buzzing around somebody's ear. I would not want to get caught making any plea for the tender heart toward the mosquito tribe. And my heart holds no death-hindering sympathy for snakes and reptiles. Causing death in a mosquito's or a snake's household does not bother my conscience one whit.

You may have guessed already that I am not myself a lover of guns. But I would like to make it clear—before someone who is gets one pointed at me—that neither am I against the gun sports nor am I in argument with the man who enjoys his gun—and the game it can provide. But the gun sports do need to be buttressed with a certain sympathetic feeling toward the game.

Somehow I never can forget a picture in one of my childhood story books. It showed a man in the forest coming upon a dead bird which some hunter had shot, not because he wanted the bird but solely because he wanted the fun of shooting it. And underneath the picture was this poem—which the passing of time has not been able, either, to erase from my mind.

Or the meanest kind of an old gray rat;
Than a cruel man with a dog
and a gun
Who would shoot a poor
birdie—just for fun!

Editor, The Freeman,
I wish I could find words to express our deep appreciation for the kindness extended to our trailer community during the recent flood.

The mayor of your city, Mr. Fred Stang, allowed us to use the Stadium, also the Utilities Building so that we might have water and sanitary facilities.

Men who had worked many hours helping others came in the cold and rain and provided us with electricity making it possible for us to use our refrigeration.

The Sanitary Department collected our refuse each day, a great convenience for us. The mayor came here personally to inquire if we were in need of anything.

It is not possible for me to thank everyone, or even to know all of those who so kindly contributed to our comfort. I am certain, however, that I can speak for all of us who have benefitted by your kind hospitality, that we are truly grateful.

I hope that at some time we may be able to reciprocate in some way in municipal affairs.

Sincerely yours,
MR. & MRS. RICHARD A. WEHRLY
Art's Trailer Park.

Recovery Report

ported the President progressing satisfactorily without complications after sitting up in an easy chair in his room and in a wheelchair on the sundeck outside his eighth floor quarters a total of an hour and 50 minutes.

WHITE HOUSE news secretary James C. Hagerty was queried as to the significance of this when Dr. White had predicted a fortnight ago that the President would be sitting up "all day" by the end of the fourth week.

"On the sitting up," Hagerty said, "they are leaving it pretty much up to the President." He pointed out that the President painted for an hour and a half yesterday while alone.

"I think he is more comfortable relaxing and painting in bed rather than sitting in a chair," Hagerty added. "It is entirely up to the President whatever he wants to do and we let him do it."

REPORTERS also told Hagerty they were puzzled by an assertion by Dr. Eugene Lepeschkin, University of Vermont authority about the following suggestions from members of the PTF and students of the Marlborough Central School:

Children be instructed to cross in front of stopped school bus; specific seating arrangements be made; no destruction of school or personal property; no moving or standing in bus unless there is not a seat; no child permitted to leave bus except at usual stop unless permission has been given by teacher or parent and no swearing or obscene language.

ALSO, NO SHARP or pointed instruments; no water pistols; no throwing of papers out of bus windows or on bus floor; no hands or heads out of windows; requests for school bus stop signs at several points; a large stop sign on rear of bus and a safety committee be appointed to study safety measures.

DURING THE FIRST five weeks of school the daily average attendance was 96 per cent. This is an excellent average but it will undoubtedly be lower when winter weather brings sickness in its wake.

Cafeteria sales during the month of September totaled $1,404.71. A total of 4,023 hot lunches were served, averaging 224 lunches daily.

October 25-26-27 are the scheduled dates for the Marlborough Central School Book Fair. New books will be on sale. Books will be arranged according to reading level.

THE FOLLOWING schedule of display times and places should help parents who wish to be present when their children buy books:

Tuesday, 9-11 a. m., room 9, Grades 8B, 7 and 6 attending; Tuesday, 1-3, cafeteria, Grades 8A, 5 and Mrs. Emmerling's 1st attending; Wednesday, 9-11, cafeteria, Grades 2 and Mrs. Muller's 1st attending; Wednesday, 1-3, kindergarten and Thursday, 1-3, cafeteria, Grades 3 and 4 and Mr. Goumas' 7th attending.

Proceeds of the sale of books will be used for purchase of darkening shades for one of the classrooms.

The next meeting of the PTF will be held in the school auditorium at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, Oct. 26. At this time parents will have an opportunity for class visitation.

Cardinal Visit To Honor Church At Anniversary

St. Peter's Church in Rosendale will celebrate its 100th anniversary Sunday with Francis Cardinal Spellman presiding at a solemn high Mass at 11 o'clock.

THE CELEBRANT of the Mass will be the Rev. William J. McDonald, former pastor of St. Peter's. The church and area priests will participate in the observance of the one hundredth anniversary of the Rosendale church.

The Rev. Vincent DePaul is the present pastor of St. Peter's.

Shell Plans Teacher Seminar at Cornell

To help offset the dangerous cutback in science teaching at the secondary level—a basic cause for our critical shortage of graduate scientists—Shell Companies Foundation, Inc. today announced a broad program of recognition fellowships for high school teachers of science and mathematics.

Through the program, worked out with cooperation of the leading educational association, Shell will underwrite summer seminars at Cornell and Stanford Universities for 60 teachers yearly. The fellowship recipients, chosen on the basis of merit and demonstrated leadership qualities, will receive travel allowances, all tuition and fees, living expenses on the university campus and $500 in cash to make up for the loss of potential summer earnings.

Basically, according to William J. Lamb, Albany District Manager for Shell Oil Company, the program seeks to inspire those science teachers who, in turn, will be able to inspire the scientists and science teachers of tomorrow.

Mr. Lamb explained that the program, to be known as the Shell Merit Fellowship for high school science and mathematics teachers, was developed following studies that showed a rapid decline in the number of college graduates entering the field of science teaching.

Says Record N.Y. Apple Crop Wins New Acceptance

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21—More people will eat more New York state apples this year than ever, due to a record crop and the largest promotional program in history, State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson said this week.

In spite of varied weather changes, which included drought, floods and a hurricane, growers estimate this year's apple crop at over 17 million bushels, he said. This is 700,000 bushels ahead of last year and the largest in the past quarter-century.

IN STORES and on roadside stands New York's special varieties are being displayed, including among others the McIntosh, Wealthy, Baldwin, Greening, Northern Spy, Ben Davis, Cortland, Delicious and Rome Beauty. As the harvest goes along, food scientists and pomologists at Cornell University and the State Experiment Station at Geneva check the samples of the tree-ripened fruit.

The combination of abundant yield and high quality of the crop, Commissioner Dickinson said, has stimulated the biggest distribution program the state's apples have ever had. Due to the active efforts of the major apple growing associations, assisted by the State Department of Agriculture and Markets and the State Department of Commerce, he asserted the huge crop will find expanded outlets not only in the state, but will go increasingly into the Middle West and Middle Atlantic States. Larger quantities also will be shipped for export, especially to South American countries, according to reports the Commerce Department has received.

"IT IS A SOURCE of pride to all of us that this quality New York State product is having such a successful year and is finding an ever-broadening acceptance," Commissioner Dickinson said. "It is a tribute to the insistence of the grower organizations on maintaining high quality and to their active program for getting this fine product to the public."

The apple harvest in the state is reaching its peak and will be marked by the New York State Apple Week October 20-29, coinciding with National Apple Week.

Governor Harriman, in a proclamation, called attention to the observance and paid tribute to the men and women of the apple industry. He urged wide consumption of the "vitamin-filled delicious fruit" in housewives' daily menus.

EARLIER in the year Governor Harriman directed the State Division of Standards and Purchase to accelerate the purchase of apples for State institutions as a means of stimulating the marketing of storage apples.

In the apple-growing sections of the State, centered in the Hudson and Champlain valleys and Western New York, festivities of the harvest season are under way. The New York-New England Apple Institute, with headquarters in Kingston, and the Western New York Apple Association at Rochester have launched their largest promotional and advertising programs to bring the news of the crop to millions of consumers. A special committee cooperating with the National Apple Week observance includes Herman Michaelson, of Albany; Fred B. Corey, Rochester, and Don Joseph and Henri Barbey, of New York City.

Cornell scientists have contributed much to advance the quality of yields in the state. It was at Cornell that Dr. Robert M. Smock perfected the new controlled-atmosphere technique for storing apples, which keeps them fresh for months. The system, introduced a few years ago to New York state growers, is extensively used to protect the quality of the apples.

The closing session of the 77th general conference in New Orleans passed a resolution calling for a federal law to induct men into the reserves for transfer to the guard.

ANOTHER resolution called for an end to "red tape" in construction of guard armories, citing the present system, which gives the Bureau of the Budget a final say on all proposed armories, as "completely unwarranted and unjustified."

Heavier Demand For Food Is Seen By Chain Leader

The nation's food needs are changing rapidly and the food industry must step up its efficiency to meet these new demands, Ralph W. Burger, president of A&P Food Stores, said today.

Mr. Burger, in observance of the nation's oldest food chain's 96th anniversary, declared that Americans are the best fed people in the world.

"The quality and variety of food and the shopping conveniences they enjoy are greater than ever before," he said. "In addition, the cost of eating has been reduced in the past 96 years from half the average family's disposable income to only about one quarter."

"But our families are increasing rapidly and new living patterns and shopping habits are developing. These changes pose serious problems for the food industry."

The company's month-long anniversary observance marks the opening of the first A&P in 1859 by George Huntington Hartford, father of the chain's present board chairman. The firm's initial stock in trade was tea, bought from clipper ships and sold directly to consumers in the small store in downtown New York City. The savings made possible by this method enabled Hartford to price the tea at about one-third the prevailing rate.

EXCEPTION TO THE AXIOM

If President Eisenhower follows the expected course and declines to run again next year, then he will have a chance to cast some pretty big doubt on the worth of an old Washington political axiom.

The rule in question is the one that says a President who makes known his intention not to seek re-election promptly loses his major political influence both with Congress and with his own party.

There is considerable reason to doubt that this will apply in Mr. Eisenhower's case. There is, indeed, reason to doubt that it ever applies automatically. It seems rather to be a matter of individuals.

Mr. Eisenhower, as we all know, is tremendously popular with the American voters. Nothing short of war or depression is likely to reduce his standing measurably. Barring those calamities, one may fairly predict that his popularity will continue high to the end of his term.

This will not be something that either Congress or the Republican party will be able to ignore. The President's high status with voters gives him leverage that he can employ to help push his program through the legislative roadblocks.

His popularity plus his position as top party man makes it extremely risky for the average Republican politician to stand out against the President so long as he holds office. Voters who like the President and what he stands for might take a glum view of the GOP lawmaker who declined to support him.

In addition, the record Mr. Eisenhower makes in the White House is a key part of the record everyone in his party must run on. To separate oneself markedly from that record is to seem to repudiate it.

All this takes on perhaps especial meaning in his case when it is remembered that the kind of performance he has been delivering has found high favor with the electorate. His stress on peace, and his evident success in exploring new avenues toward it, has lifted him to a peak of esteem.

In the view of many, the President almost surely will press this quest harder than ever if January, 1957, is the limit of his tenure. For this has always been his deepest concern as Chief Executive. And he has enough of a sense of history to want to leave his mark in the most crucial field of all.

If he thus dedicates himself in the months ahead, Mr. Eisenhower will be a very hard man to be against. More than ever before he could place himself above narrow partisanship, devoted to the national well-being and safety.

Far from losing his influence in Washington, he might find it greater than at any time in his entire term.

Just why budding fourth graders need dictionaries in school is a mystery to many parents—who can't keep up with the words the youngsters already know on their own!

FAST TRIP TO NOWHERE

No politician likes to have his hair singed as did Carmine DeSapio, New York Democratic leader, on his recent brief visit to California.

He went out to press the presidential case for Gov. Averell Harriman. But California party leaders, not by accident to be sure, chose the day of his arrival to announce their ardor for rival candidate Adlai Stevenson.

Cued by this action, top Oregon Democrats chimed in for the former Illinois governor.

If Mr. Harry Truman's recent back-pat for Harriman moved the governor forward in the presidential picture, what happened to DeSapio thrust him back. Harriman may or may not prove a serious contender in 1956. But his net gains in the last week or more must be calculated as modest.

Experts who write the fancy ads in magazines and newspapers admit themselves that they aim to reach the person within—but often, we admit, they score on the bill-fold within.

THE BALANCED BUDGET

Historic changes function in a chain, one thing leads to another. It is not only difficult to arrest the chain reactions, but that which becomes established can never be undone except by war or revolution. Those of us who rejected Roosevelt's "New Deal" were defeated.

The New Deal was, in any phase, revolutionary in the sense that it actually altered the ideas of the American people concerning the Constitution, private property rights, the relations of the Federal Government to the states, the relationship of the Congress to the public purse. It expanded the functions of government and elevated the power of the President.

Much of this was easy to do, if anyone desired to do it, because of the Depression and the War. And now we have it. Those who believe that in 1955 this country will return to the system of free enterprise which prevailed here from 1789 to 1932 are fighting windmills. Usually those who think that way are astonished that they are not supported by business men in their efforts to preserve private enterprise. The fact is that business has adjusted itself to the New Deal revolution and is making bigger profits than ever. If in 1936-7, these business men fought the labor union ideas of John L. Lewis and Walter Reuther, they are now in partnership with Reuther to preserve the system they once opposed. A return to a free economy would upset the larger American businesses as the organization of the C.I.O. upset them.

Whereas in many states there is considerable resentment at current efforts at expansion of Federal authority, the states nevertheless accept Federal aid for that or that. Federal expansion can only be halted by rejecting Federal aid for everything—roads, housing, education—everything. Thus far, no state has taken that position and therefore Federal expansion continues.

Colleges and universities fell all over themselves to get the benefits of the G.I. Bill of Rights. Many of the smaller colleges expanded beyond their justifiable needs; now they find themselves with too much plant, too expensive a faculty, and too few students. Some of them are in such unfortunate financial straits that they will probably have to close down. And why not? From the standpoint of scholarship, some of them should close down.

Professors Donald J. Cowling and Carter Davidson in 1949 published a pamphlet warning their fellow educators of their dangers. They said: "The social controls that have recently been developing on every hand in America are hailed as something new under the sun, and therefore better than what we have had before. But the controls are old—as old as government itself—the only new feature is the form of government that is pressing them upon the people. In the past it was tyranny or monarchy or oligarchy that forced individuals into patterns under a theory of the divine right of kings. But the American republic has formed on a new basis, which repudiated the theories and practices of the past. It was unique in that it was established by free men."

Also, they said: "The basic argument against federal aid for schools is that it places in the hands of those in political authority the power to transform our whole way of life. Certain controls are conceded to be necessary from the start—joint responsibility in the preparation of educational plans for each state with authority resting with the United States commissioner of education for final approval according to standards which he determines; for regional representatives of the federal agency and for financial accounting to it of all money spent, and for annual reports covering the educational results achieved. These controls involve supervision not only of funds supplied by the Federal Government but of state funds as well."

We have not yet witnessed such Federal control of what is to be taught, but it is interesting that a Left-Wing conformity has established itself and conservative students complain that they are down-graded when they answer controversial questions differently from the private ideas of the so-called liberal instructor. Even if a student is only reduced from an A to a B, it could affect his standing in the class, his chance to get a Phi Beta Kappa key and a foot on the first rung of the profession of scholarship. However, there are still free spirits in American universities who pursue their course without fear.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

AIR HUNGER

I think we all agree that it seems to be human nature to worry more about a possible ailment of the heart than about any other organ. This seems natural when we realize that life stops when the heart stops beating. On the other hand, the heart is a strong organ, almost entirely made up of muscle, and will stand up to its job unless seriously damaged.

However, sometimes symptoms occur, in fact often, which the individual may think is due to some trouble with the heart but is not really so. One of these conditions is air hunger which comes to many women and a few men in the form of a tingling something like shortness of breath. Actually, it is not a true shortness of breath, such as comes on after exercise or climbing stairs, but is a feeling that the air is not being drawn deeply enough into the lungs. Sometimes the patient will get up and go to an open window in an effort to get more oxygen. An attack often comes on when a person is tired and nervous and perhaps shortly after he or she has gone to bed.

When the symptom is described to the physician, he recognizes it for what it is, something quite common. He knows it is different from the shortness of breath that is due to real heart trouble because if there were any weakness of the heart, the shortness of breath would come when the patient was exercising and not when he is resting quietly at home. The main thing to remember is not to get frightened about this type of air hunger. If reassurance is necessary, by all means have your physician check over your heart and set your mind at rest.

Sometimes, if a person is badly frightened by this sensation of smothering, he will breathe too rapidly for a while and this extra breathing may bring on a sensation of light-headedness or a feeling of faintness with a tingling sensation in the hands and feet, sweating, and weakness. Another difficulty about such harmless attacks is that other members of the family become fearful that a heart attack is being experienced and that perhaps the patient is dying and they communicate their fear to the patient which will likely make him worse.

Some of the patients with this trouble have the habit of sighing frequently. Some, when frightened, gasp for air, swallow it and belch repeatedly. This habit should be broken as it is useless and also tiring. Spells of this type have sometimes been called mild hysteria, really caused by fear, and all that is needed to stop them is to have a physician come in to restore confidence and convince everyone that there is nothing to worry about.

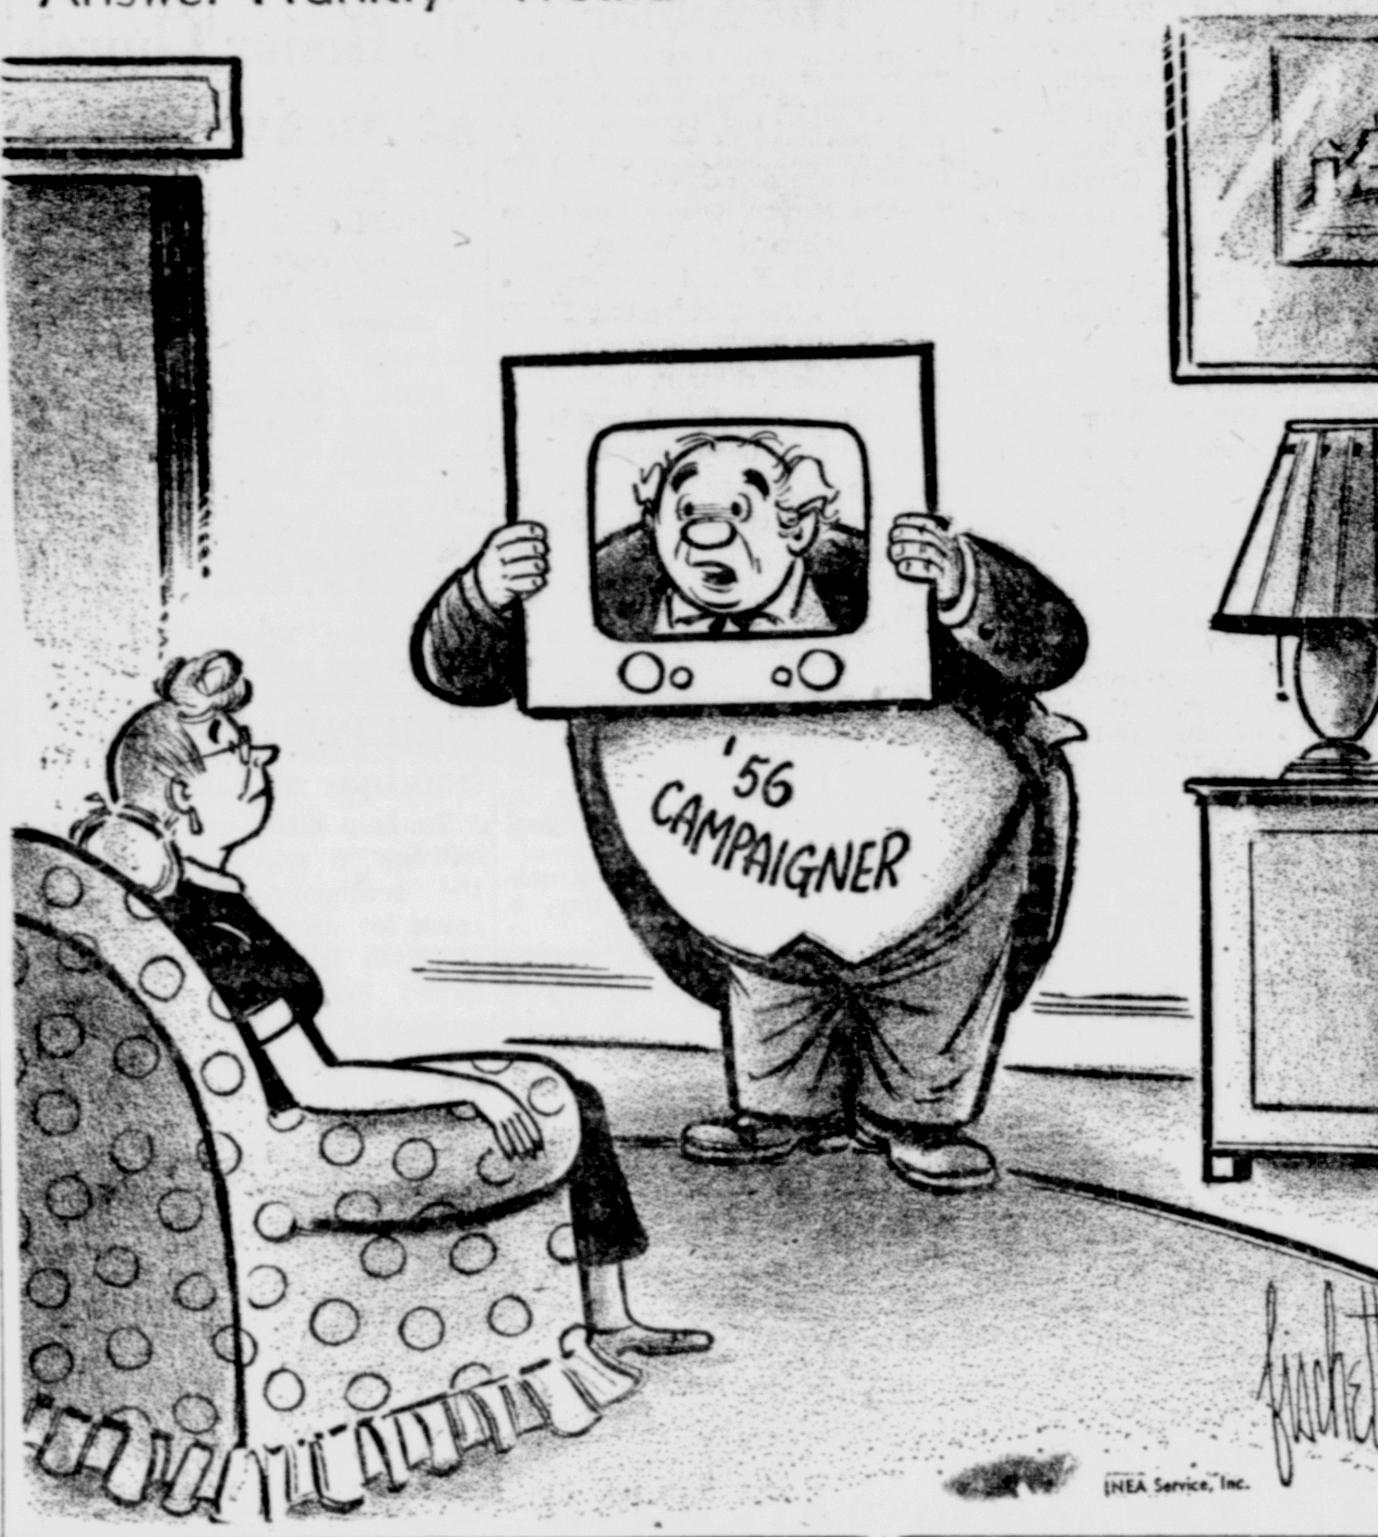

Why Worry About Your Heart?

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA)—Members of the Eisenhower administration White House team and the staff at Republican National Committee headquarters have not given up the idea that the President will be a candidate for reelection next year.

They are resentful of the many easy assumptions that Mr. Eisenhower is through as President. They point out that many of these predictions come from the two political extremes—the left wing Democrats and the right wing Republicans.

With what passes for a political straight face, Eisenhower Republican leaders in Washington are citing case after case—like that of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks—in which big executives have sustained heart attacks and resumed their strenuous positions without a trace of difference.

The continuing belief of Republican insiders that Eisenhower will be a second-term candidate is not based on any confidential medical reports that the President's health is better than the official statements indicate.

Both the assistant to the President, Gov. Sherman Adams and Press Secretary James Hagerty at Denver have given assurances that the medical condition bulletins have told everything and hidden nothing.

BUT THE FACT THAT the President's physicians have indicated he might be able to resume some of his White House duties in January has set in motion some staff planning.

Congress convenes in January. The first presidential responsibility is the annual State of the Union message to Congress. The question is whether the President will be able to deliver it in person.

One plan that has been given preliminary consideration is for a short, inspirational message which Eisenhower could himself deliver. This could be followed by a series of special messages giving details on next year's Eisenhower program, sent to Congress by messenger but not read by the President personally.

In any event, the President's appearance before Congress to deliver his State of the Union message would be symbolic of his return to full command and leadership of his party.

This may not be at the same pace the President has tried to maintain in the past, with telephone calls from his staff even to the golf course for important decisions.

EVER SINCE President Eisenhower moved to the White House, he has directed his staff towards relieving him from many traditional and assumed burdens of office. This easing of responsibilities is now being stepped up.

No President can ever get wholly away from his job, even when flat on his back from a heart ailment. So even with extra long weekends at Gettysburg or the delegation of more hand-shaking ceremonies to the vice president, there is no idea that the President can be relieved of his Constitutional and legal duties.

One other factor in the situation which has been misrepresented according to some White House staff members, is the controversy over Vice President Richard M. Nixon. They consider this question academic.

It is pointed out that if President Eisenhower is a candidate for re-election, he will have absolute say so on who his running mate shall be.

THERE IS SAID TO be no possibility that the President will repudiate his own vice president. It is deduced from this that the ticket would be Eisenhower and Nixon again, without question.

Political realists think all the foregoing is very much in the realm of wishful thinking by Eisenhower's most devoted enthusiasts. They will regard some of it as extremely naive.

It is admitted by the Eisenhower stalwarts that the final decision to run or not to run will be made by the President himself. But it is pointed out that not even he knows what his decision will be next January.

There is, of course the possibility of delayed recovery, or a second attack that would really take the President out of the running.

In that event, even the most loyal Eisenhower men recognize that the Republican party would be thrown into the worst free-for-all fight it has ever had. And no one can predict that outcome.

Delay of Atom Control Aided Through Stalin's Suspicions

Washington, Oct. 22 (AP)—Marshal Stalin's fear, or suspicion, of foreigners poking around inside Russia not only lasted to the end of his life but may have held back control of the atom bomb for years.

The Defense Department report this week—on American efforts to get Russia into the war against Japan—puts Stalin on record as early as Jan. 13, 1943 in opposition to letting the United States get a look into Soviet-land.

AT THAT TIME this country had the problem of sending planes to Russia, to fight off the Germans, by the round-about way of North Africa. It would have been easier to ship them from Alaska directly into Siberia.

In a message to Stalin in the latter part of 1942 President Roosevelt mentioned that to Stalin. He also told him Japan might attack Russia. In such an event, Roosevelt said, American planes would help fight the enemy.

But the amount to help Russia, got Roosevelt said, would depend on the ability of Russian airplanes to handle American planes. He suggested a few Americans be permitted to look around in Siberia to see what Russia needed in the way of bases.

RUSSIA WAS having a tough time with the Germans in those days. And Russia needed help from the United States which was its strongest ally. Nevertheless, Stalin said in January 1943 in a message to Roosevelt: "It would seem obvious that Russian military objects can be inspected only by Russian inspectors, just as American military objects be inspected only by American inspectors."

After the war the United States proposed a plan to control the atom bomb. It called for teams of foreign inspectors to be stationed in the United States and Russia to be sure neither side cheated or prepared a sneak attack.

But to the end of Stalin's life in 1953 Russia frigidly turned its back on that idea. Perhaps if Stalin had died during or right after the war Russia might have been more receptive.

AT ANY RATE his Kremlin successors this spring, two years after his death, accepted the principle of foreign inspection teams in Russia—as a means of controlling atom bomb production—but only if they were stationed at a few key points.

It's not certain they would actually agree to such a plan if arrangements with them reached the point of signing on the dotted line. And, by this time the United States has both sides well disillusioned with the theory that inspection teams can be truly effective.

As part of the Korean truce the North (Communist) and South Koreans agreed to letting United Nations inspection teams into their areas to check against secret military buildup.

THE STATE Department charges the North Koreans and their Chinese allies have violated the truce by building up their military establishment and even bringing in jet planes. These Chinese had no jet planes in North Korea before the truce.

At Geneva, instead of depending on ground-based inspections, President Eisenhower proposed to the Russians that both sides be permitted to fly their own planes over each other's territory and do their inspecting from the air.

RUSSIAN PREMIER Bulganin in clung to the ground-inspector plan. Eisenhower told him the United States would go along with that, if Bulganin wanted it but he urged Bulganin to accept also his aerial inspection suggestion.

Since Stalin's successors have at least now said they'd accept ground inspection, it's possible they might have reached that point much sooner if Stalin had died sooner. If so, the world might have been closer now to atom control.

Rev. Kennedy Will Speak at Golden Jubilee Banquet

REV. W. H. KENNEDY

The Rev. William H. Kennedy is to be the principal speaker at the Golden Jubilee Banquet of the St. Mary's Holy Name Society to be held at the Knights of Columbus hall Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 7 p. m.

FATHER KENNEDY was assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church from 1925 to 1940 and for most of this time he served as moderator of the Holy Name Society. He is now administrator of St. Paul's Church in Congers. Father Kennedy has said that in his talk he will try to relate with the men some of the doings of the Holy Name Society which reached a peak of activity during his term as moderator.

AS A SPECIAL feature in connection with Father Kennedy's attempt to recreate past highlights of the society's activities colored movies of Holy Name rallies and social events will be shown. Most of these movies were taken by Father Kennedy himself.

THE HOLY NAME Society was founded in St. Mary's Parish by the Right Rev. Monsignor Richard L. Bursell PRVF in the year 1905. In the half century of the society's life there have been 22 presidents and 10 moderators. At the present time the society has 450 members. Nine of these members were present at the first meeting of the society under Monsignor Bursell.

These charter members Thomas Cloonan, Neil Corkery, Thomas Feeney, Patrick Gilday, Michael Grane, Michael Hart, William Hussey, William Reardon and Joseph F. Sullivan are all to be guests of honor at the Jubilee Banquet of the society.

WHILE THE PRIMARY end of the Holy Name Society has always been spiritual, working towards the perfecting of each member and of the group, the society has a social program for its members and has sought to be of assistance to the pastor and the parish in what ever way they could. A prominent part of the society's activities has always been the supporting of the youth activities of the parish. During the past seven years they have sponsored the parish CYO unit and have provided it with funds and leadership.

JOSEPH F. SULLIVAN, charter member and past president, is chairman of the Jubilee Banquet. Serving with him on the committee are the officers of the society. Gustav Kogel, ticket chairman, has said that the demand for tickets has been brisk and that because the capacity of the banquet hall is limited that all tickets for the banquet must be purchased by this Sunday evening. All those wishing to purchase tickets may call Mr. Kogel or St. Mary's Rectory, or obtain their ticket from the committee at the church door on Sunday morning.

Sandpaper Grade Depends on Grit

Sandpaper is graded according to the size of the particles of grit with which it is coated. One type is made to be used dry; the other, to be used either dry or with lubricant such as water, naphtha or oil. The second type is known as Wet or Dry sandpaper.

Sandpaper to be used dry is graded as 1-2, 1-0, 2-0, 4-0, 6-0, etc. The larger the number the finer the grit—thus 6-0 is a finer grit paper than 4-0.

Wet or Dry sandpaper is graded as 80 to 600. Here, again, the larger the number the finer the grit.

The Darby a Small But Smart Ranch Type Design

Rooms Four Bedrooms Two
Closets Six
Cubage 19,500 ft.
Dimensions 24' x 65'

"The Darby" has overall dimensions of 24'x65'. Thus, it does not require a large lot; is economical to construct and will appeal to prospective home owners who must build on a budget. Cubage of the house is 19,500 feet.

Since the exterior appearance of this little house is so simple in design, it depends upon the correct landscaping to give distinction and character to the outside of "The Darby." But, simplicity must also be the keynote of the landscaping to obtain an attractive overall effect.

For the exterior finish of the house itself, wide clapboards can be used as in the illustration. Shingles, or a combination wood and masonry finish also could be used with successful results. In selecting a site for "The Darby" remember that the large picture window in the living room should face the most attractive possible scenery from this window.

Beware of Tree That Hugs House

A house-hugging tree can be a real home wrecker.

A favorite spot for tree seeds to lodge is close to the foundation wall of a house. They seem to thrive there. If left alone, a tiny tree will soon pop up.

This both amuses and amazes many home owners and not infrequently they treat the tree as a personal pet. But as the years go by, the pet may grow into a monster, warns J. W. Christian, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Unless removed when they are very small, wall-side trees often cause considerable damage. Their growing roots have smashed many sturdy stone and cement foundations.

The trees should be moved as soon as they appear, or at least before they grow more than a foot above the ground. The smaller the tree, the easier it is to remove.

As the tree grows in size and strength, the job becomes increasingly difficult.

Tips, Hints And Ideas

When gluing wood for cabinet or furniture work, remember that dampened wood expands more across the grain than with it. Be sure that both pieces of wood meet with their grain at the same angle, or the joint may crack while drying. Glue dries best and makes the strongest joints when the temperature in the room is 70 degrees or above. If the wood must be clamped with blocks while it is drying, put a layer of waxed paper between glued joint and block. This will prevent the glue from sticking to the block.

Use Only One Color On a Small House

On a small house of the ranch type, it's wise not to use more than one paint color on the body of the house, unless you want your home to look even smaller. The maximum impression of size can be created with white or a light tint. Color accents which harmonize with the roof and adjoining structures can best be introduced on shutters, doors, window boxes and garden "furnishings."

As the Comanche steeds caught the blood scent of slain horses, they stampeded.

Bliss Heads Bankers

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP)—Charles M. Bliss of New York city is the new chairman of the Trust Division of the New York State Bankers Assn. Bliss, vice president of the Bank of New York, was elected at the division's ninth annual conference yesterday to succeed Charles E. Treman Jr., vice president of the Tompkins County Trust Co., Ithaca. About 250 attended the one-day meeting. Herbert A. Jones, vice president of the National Commercial Bank & Trust Co. of Albany, was chosen vice chairman.

Adenauer Has Set Back

Bonn, Germany, Oct. 22 (AP)—Ailing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had a slightly higher temperature today, it was announced. This was the first setback reported on his road to recovery from bronchial pneumonia. The announcement cast doubt on yesterday's optimistic official report that he might be able to go back to work at the end of next week. The 79-year-old statesman caught a cold and was ordered to bed on Oct. 7.

File Care

When filing metal, be sure to do all of the cutting with the forward motion of the file. If heavy pressure is used on the back stroke, it will close the file grooves, by bending over the undercut ridges. To clean a file or rasp, keep a file card (a stiff metal, brush-like tool) and a wire brush handy. Use the file card to clean the harder deposits, the wire brush for the remainder. When filing paint or rasping soft wood, use the wire brush often to prevent the grooves and teeth from becoming clogged and riding over the work. Brush a little oil over the file faces to prevent rust.

Long Spades Nurse Trumps

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Today's hand continues our series on the management of the trump suit. When the opponents hammer away at your trumps with their long suit, you must sometimes counter by developing long suits of your own. West opens the six of diamonds, and you allow East to win the first trick with the queen of diamonds. If East is foolish enough to switch to a different suit you will be delighted. East returns another diamond, however, and you take your ace. You cannot blithely lead trumps to force out the ace. West would refuse the first two trumps but would take the third trump and go back to diamonds. This would knock out your last trump, allowing West to make his own last trump and the rest of his diamonds to say nothing of East's top spades.

Instead of touching the trumps you lead the jack of spades at the third trick. East wins with the queen of spades and must return something or other. What can East do to hurt you?

Assume that East returns a trump (as good as any other defense). You win in dummy and lead another spade. East takes the ace of spades. He can allow West to ruff a spade now, but you can afford that trick.

East's best chance is to return a second trump. West holds off again, and you win in dummy once more. You must now abandon the trumps in order to lead your good cards in spades and clubs. There are now two trumps out against you, and you are quite willing to let the enemy make tricks with both of them.

When somebody ruffs a spade or a club, you will have two trumps while the enemy will have only one trump. You are sure to keep control of the hand, losing only two spades, two trumps, and one diamond.

Mont Pleasant Crushes Kingston High Football Squad, 41-0

Locals Take Worst Defeat In 10 Seasons First Shutout In 20 Games

Mont Pleasant High School handed Kingston High its worst football defeat in Bill Burke's 10-year reign last night at Schenectady's McNierney Stadium.

Paced by bruising fullback Vince Gallo, the Monties rolled up a crushing 41-0 victory over the Maroons. Gallo scored three touchdowns and place-kicked five of six extra point attempts.

Prior to last night, the biggest score a Burke-coached KHS eleven had been beaten by was 39-0. That defeat was inflicted by Newburgh in 1952, and it was the last time that Kingston had been held scoreless. The locals had crossed the goal line at least once in 20 games. And under Burke, the Maroons have failed to score only six times in 10 seasons.

MONT PLEASANT'S offense couldn't be stopped. Its defense wouldn't budge. It was the team's eighth straight win over a two-year span.

Only one Kingston runner, fullback Larry Johnson, was able to pick up yardage consistently. Johnson, who is blossoming into being KHS' steady ground gainer, made 38 yards in 12 carries. He lost yardage only once.

The deepest Kingston penetration was in the fourth period, when halfback Ronnie Ashdown returned a Mont Pleasant punt from the Kingston 30 to MP's 33. But the threat was halted when two KHS passes fell incomplete and a third was intercepted.

The Maroons made another attempt at scoring when Jim "Junior" Jackson returned the second-half kickoff from the 15 to the 46-yard line. Johnson broke through the line for 14 yards, but again the drive was stalled. Mont Pleasant taking over on downs on its 39.

GALLO BROKE the back of the Maroons' defense with his bull-like rushes. He scored all of his touchdowns in the first half.

The first Gallo score was a 42-yard charge off tackle. It climaxed Mont Pleasant's 70-yard march.

On the last play of the first quarter, Gary Trout, giant Mont Pleasant end, blocked Ashdown's punt and the Monties recovered on Kingston's 25. Gallo roared through the middle on the first play for the touchdown. Then he missed his only kick of the night, the ball sailing wide of the uprights.

Gallo's final score ended a 79-yard drive which needed 13 plays. Gallo bucked over from the one two plays before the half ended.

After Kingston drove to Mont Pleasant's 39 in the third period, the Monties marched back for their fourth touchdown. Freeman Keller ran over from the 4. It was the only scoring in that quarter.

A "FLUKE" bounce on a Mont Pleasant kick set up the fifth TD. The football touched Ashdown as he tried to pick it up, but it bounced away from him and the home club recovered it on the Kingston one-foot line. Vince Savini went over from there.

Greg Marquez intercepted the KHS pass that stalled the final bid by the locals. He returned the pigskin to Kingston's 49. From there, Bob Poirer and Trout teamed up on a pass play that ended on Kingston's three. Dick Korentnicki charged across for the final score.

These are trying days for some golf clubs and the start of a new, plush era for others. Days when some clubs wonder how many of its members some other layout might attract for the 1956 season.

Wiltwyck Country Club is bursting forth in bright, new splendor in a setting of breath-taking beauty. Together with the newly dedicated Empire State Country Club at Spring Valley, they rate as the finest golf courses built in the East in recent years.

There is natural concern for the future at Twaalfskill and Woodstock, but the last time we checked both clubs were on pretty solid footing.

It is reasonable to expect a certain percentage of "dual memberships"—players belonging to both Wiltwyck and Twaalfskill. It is also reasonable to assume that in time some of the duals will become solos and one of the two clubs will suffer a loss.

To an observer who once was accused of trying to inspire the shift of the golf population from one sector of the county to another, the current behind the scenes maneuverings are highly amusing.

We cannot share the alarm and concern expressed in some quarters over the possible collapse of such venerable institutions as Twaalfskill and Woodstock. And there will be a new IBM country club, of course.

Golf happens to be the fastest growing sport in the area and there will always be enough players to keep Wiltwyck, Twaalfskill and Woodstock alive and prosperous. To proceed on any other premise is just wishful thinking.

A Fabulous, New Layout:

One of the most fabulous country clubs in America was opened to the public a few days ago at Spring Valley.

Known as the Empire State Country Club, it was built by John Handweg, who previously built courses at River Vale and the Country Club of New Jersey. Empire State, of course, is Mr. Handweg's masterpiece.

According to Bo Gill, there isn't a more palatial club house north of Miami Beach. The clubhouse covers 54,000 square feet. The main dining room will seat 650, while the Panorama room, which includes a circular dance floor, will seat 350. There are 40 individual bedrooms, lockers for 600 members, and a sundeck which covers 20,000 square feet.

Features of the men's and women's locker rooms include steam rooms, rest rooms, showers and lounging facilities. The women's locker room has a beauty salon, and the men's a barber shop. Parking facilities include space for 1,000 cars. Each room has its own air-condition unit. . . . Television and card room are also featured.

The swimming pool is 160 by 260 feet, contains 1,800,000 gallons of filtered water and will be surrounded by 300 cabanas. Escalators will be constructed from the pool to the clubhouse.

There are three nines on the layout, known as the Red, White and Blue. The course stretches 7,030 yards for the championship holes. It is located in a natural setting, three miles off the Thruway, about 64 miles south of Kingston, via the Palisades Parkway.

As you approach the first tee, you can see the spires of the Empire State Building. That's why Handweg named it the Empire State Country Club.

Wins Final Round

Logart Cops Impressive Victory Against Turner

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—Isaac (Kid) Logart, who once fought a main event for $150 in his native Cuba, today was headed for boxing's big money following his thrilling victory over experienced Gil Turner in Madison Square Garden.

The 22-year-old flash from Kid Gavilan's home province of Camaguey not only earned about $5,000 for last night's 10-round unanimous decision but clinched a Dec. 2 date in the Garden against an opponent to be selected.

"We may put him in with Don Jordan who beat Joe Miceli in California, Virgil Akins, or have him fight Turner again," said Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club. "The kid made a big hit and we want to use him often."

A 13-10 UNDERDOG, Logart won the thrilling slugfest by coping the feverishly-paced last round. The whole fight hinged on the final heat and like earned it by beating his 25-year-old, heavier rival in several furious exchanges and with one solid left hook to the jaw a few seconds before the bell.

All three officials awarded that frame to Ike. Had it gone the other way, Turner would have won. Referee Al Berl and Judge Jack Gordon scored it 5-4-1 while Judge Joe Angnello made it 6-4. The AP card had the fast-punching Cuban in front, 5-4-1.

"This is the best fight I ever made," said Logart, one of the 17 children of a Cuban soldier. "I know this my big chance and I determined to win even if I drop. Now I stay here until I win welterweight title like Gavilan."

"The kid's good," said the crestfallen Turner. "I should have done more leading. I'd like to fight him again. He punches with me."

Punch with Turner is exactly what Logart did to the delight of the crowd of around 2,500 and the television viewers and radio listeners coast to coast.

GIL, 10th-ranked middleweight contender, outweighed his rival 152½ to 147. The Philadelphia attempted to use his weight advantage in the close quarter mauling by bullying Ike with his shoulders.

Turned got away with it for a while but when Ike started to find the range with his fast left hooks and rapid-fire left and right combinations, the tide turned. Logart let Turner come to him most of the time and he met Gil's rushes with his pinpoint accurate hooks that often snapped Turner's head back.

Yanks Win, 10-2

Tokyo, Oct. 22 (AP)—Aided by two Japanese errors, the New York Yankees opened a 16-game exhibition series today with a 10-2 victory over the Tokyo Orions. Elston Howard paced the Yankees with two home runs and a triple that banged off a sign 375 feet into left field and rebounded to the shortstop.

Saugerties Gridders Rap Onteora Team, 24-13

Sawyers Win 3rd; Robinson Returns Kickoff 87 Yards

Saugerties High School's football team swept to its third victory of the '55 campaign last night at Cantine Memorial Field, halting a game but outclassed Onteora Central School eleven 24-13.

The Sawyers pulverized Onteora with a rugged ground attack, racking up 313 yards.

Bill Straub's players now have a 3-2 record. For Ed Witko's charges, it was the second loss in three starts.

ONTEORA HALFBACK Ben Robinson electrified the crowd when he ran back the opening kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown.

However, Saugerties took over the game after Robinson's glitter gallop. The winners scored a touchdown in each period.

Quarterback Murray Craft ran four yards for the first Sawyer score.

Jim Erceg's 39-yard runback of an Onteora punt put the home team ahead for keeps in the second period.

CAPTAIN JACK PATTERSON did the rest of the Sawyer scoring. He rumbled 45 yards off tackle in the third period after John Dragon's block shook him loose. And in the final period Patterson circled end from eight yards out.

The Onties scored in the waning moments of the game on a buck by Reynolds, who also ran for the extra point.

The lineups:

Kerhonkson Trips Walkill, 48-36

Kerhonkson High School defeated Walkill High 48-36 yesterday in a six-man football game at Walkill which was featured by two sparkling runs by Kerhonkson's Dick Steers in the first quarter.

His 75-yard run for a touchdown followed another run of 45.

In the third quarter the lead changed hands twice and Kerhonkson going into the last quarter was behind 36 to 33.

In the final five minutes of the last quarter Kerhonkson scored twice. The final touchdown was made on an intercepted pass taken by Kerhonkson quarterback John Mustion who ran 30 yards for the touchdown.

The Kerhonkson offense was sparked by Werner Wustrau, fullback of Kerhonkson who scored three touchdowns, two on line smashes and one on a pass from Mustion. Phil McConnell, right end of Kerhonkson, scored in the third quarter on a pass from Mustion.

AAU Rejects Russian Cage Bid

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—The National Amateur Athletic Union has turned down a Russian bid to exchange basketball teams because of financial reasons.

Dan Ferris, secretary of the AAU, announced the rejection of the Russian proposal yesterday, adding:

"We are engaged in trying to raise funds for U. S. teams in the summer and winter Olympic games next year. These efforts take most of our time and it is not possible to finance an exchange of basketball teams."

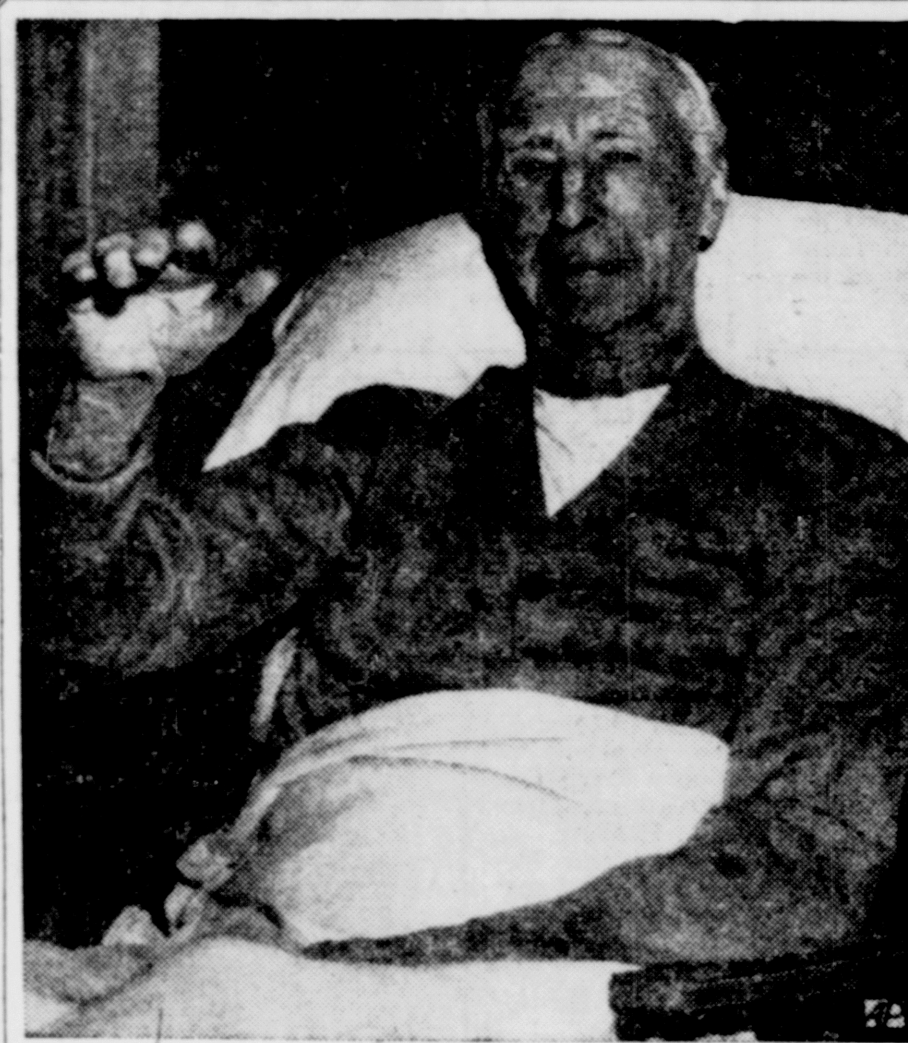

Ferris, who said the Russian proposal had been studied for a week, also said similar exchange proposals have been turned down by the U. S. gymnastic and wrestling groups.

Ferris added that a recent report a Russian basketball team would tour the United States was false.

Kingston High, Middie Harriers Tie at 28-all

Kingston High School and Middletown High School cross-country teams deadlocked at 28-28 yesterday at the Maroons' Dietz Stadium course.

The locals now have won three meets, lost one and tied one.

Bob Winkler of Middletown led the pack around the two and one-half mile course, being clocked in 11 minutes, 39 seconds.

Winkler nipped Kingston's Jimmy Childs by one second. Childs made a big bid in the final 300 yards but just missed.

Upsets Appear Improbable In Today's College Games

(By The Associated Press)

After the tidal wave of upsets that swept college football last week, anything approaching normal in today's action would bring a collective sigh of relief to the coaching clan.

Too, the season is coming to a point where every game in conference competition is important to the contenders.

For example:

Oklahoma, boasting a winning streak of 33 straight and shooting for an Orange Bowl berth, goes against Colorado, the only member of the Big Seven capable of giving the Sooners a fight. Colorado certainly wasn't expected to win, but the Buffs had the personnel to give Bud Wilkinson's outfit a run.

Texas A and M, the upstart of the Southwest conference, collided with Baylor with the loop lead at stake. The only thing certain about this upset-happy conference is its uncertainty.

Bear Bryant's Aggies, however, have the entire loop a-twitter, although they are not eligible for the Cotton Bowl this year.

Wisconsin, striving desperately to keep up with Michigan in the Big 10 race—they're tied now—drew Ohio State. The Buckeyes were advertised as the only club capable of putting up any resistance to Michigan.

Princeton, which is nursing hopes of winning the Ivy League crown, must get past Cornell to stay in contention. Yale, which played a non-league game with Colgate, is the big favorite. If Princeton comes through, the Tigers-Yale game next month probably will decide the title.

IF LAST NIGHT'S action was any criterion, this should be a day of form-following action.

UCLA, the Pacific Coast conference choice, turned back Iowa, 33-13, before 75,692 at Los Angeles in an intersectional game.

Boston College maintained its unbeaten status, by rallying for two touchdowns to tie Marquette, 13-13, and Texas Christian whipped Miami, 21-19.

The University of Detroit turned back winless Oklahoma A and M, 7-0, in a Missouri Valley game.

Quarterback Jimmy Bowen threw three touchdown passes to lead Denver to a 33-0 victory over Brigham Young in a Skyline conference tilt. In other Friday night games Colorado College nipped Colorado State 27-20 and unbeaten Idaho State edged Colgate of Idaho 20-19 for its sixth straight.

Michigan, the top team in the Associated Press weekly poll, had no problem, meeting Minnesota, while second-ranked Maryland had a date with Syracuse. Navy, another unbeaten-untied, and the best the East had to offer, had a soft touch against Penn.

A WHOLE GROUP of last week's fallen favorites figured to rebound with vengeance. Notre Dame, victim of Michigan State a week ago, played Purdue. Georgia Tech, also beaten for the first time last Saturday, had a set-up in Florida State. Washington, another first time loser, figured to have no trouble with Stanford.

Michigan State, back in the picture after halting Notre Dame, tangled with Illinois, while Duke, fighting Maryland for the Atlantic Coast conference title, encountered Pitt. Southern conference leader Auburn took on Furman, and Southern California, another PCC team to be reckoned with, was favored over California.

West Virginia, another member of the rapidly diminishing unbeaten-untied list, faced dangerous Penn State.

Other major games today in the East included: Army-Columbia, Brown-Rhode Island, Dartmouth-Harvard, Holy Cross-Boston University, Rutgers-Lehigh, Villanova-North Carolina State and Yale-Colgate.

Dick Waltman and Buster Ferraro shared scoring honors in the Classic League at the Bowlodrome last night. Both pitched 610 triples.

Waltman fired a steady 210-200-200 while Ferraro flipped a big 246 middle game around 183 and 181 counts.

Dot LaRocco led the ladies with a 521 in the Ferraro Women's Classic circuit, shooting 182-165-174.

Other high hitters in the Men's Classic were Buddy Greenburg 219-587, Woolsey 200-254, Hitchcock 521, Vining 211-539, Joe Spadafora 502, Bill Reeves 523, Chauncey Elliott 503, Frank Turk 527, Bob Denton 501, Whitney Crispell 565.

Also, Bob Jones 210-568, H. Brooks 534, Schabot 567, H. Broskie 542, Bill Wood 528, Frank Passer 522, A. LaRocco 532, Lowe 518.

Schoentag's had the high team score of 2632.

Team results:
Schoentag's 2, Denton Cadillac-Olds 1; Newcombe Oil 3, Liolike Pontiac 0; Boiceville Inn 2, Jones Dairy 1; Colonial Cabinets 2, Ballantine Beer 1.

BOB SMITH socked a 592 in the No-Can-Do circuit. His games were 170-193-229. H. Leaders included Herb Ferguson 210-564, Frank Norman 213-571, Harper 539, Bill Ferguson 219-533, Carney 552, Beatty 507, Tony Van Gonsic 531, Stan Colvin 564, Williams 213-570, DeCicco 538, Otto 508, Martin 215-558, Fattum 211-565, Turk 514, Felipe 227-568, Hulsair 514, Rudy Beury 203-529.

Jack Lester notched 505, Ben Galtitzky 504.

Team results:
Cherokees 3, Troquois 0; Mohawks 3, Apaches 0; Blackfeet 2, Alleghenys 1.

TWO KEGGLERS shared honors in Everybody's League. John Howard and Herb Houghtaling both tallied 584.

Howard hit 155-209-220 and Houghtaling clipped 182-189-213. Top scorers included Charlie Brooks 544, Jack Hartman 569, Orlando Felipe 537, George Houghtaling 542, Tom Welch 201-572, Ed Lindhurst 516, Howard Wood 222-554, Del Pritchard 514, Chris Robinson 504, Bob Liebel 501, Fred Schryver 534, Harry Hines 207-514, Allen Hoey 202-523, Leo Stauble 511, Harry Bruck 215-531.

FLATTERER

The word flatterer actually meant a "tail wagger" when it came into the English language from the Norman word "Flatter." It got its present meaning from the resemblance human flattery has to the canine tail wagging... and the winning of friends.

OFFICE CAT

A tough looking character had sat through the movie performance but as he walked out, he turned and stuck a gun in the cashier's face as she sat in the box office. Sneeringly he said, "The picture was terrible—give me everybody's money back."

A shopkeeper in a small North Carolina resort town popular with fishermen displayed a card in his window reading: "Fishing tackle." A vacationer called the shopkeeper's attention to the error and asked, "Hasn't anyone told you about it before?" Proprietor—Sure thing. Lots of people have. But they always buy something when they drop in.

Skywatchers Will Hear Pacific Vet In Talk Monday

Mrs. Dewey Logan, post supervisor of the Kingston observation post, has made arrangements to have Sergeant Samuel Moody of the White Plains Filter Center to relate his experiences while in Japan at a meeting of Skywatchers at the Court House Monday at 7:45 p. m.

The topics which will be discussed will be related to Japan prison camps, experience on Bataan Death March, International crime tribunal, and Sgt. Moody will also show a film on Japan.

ALL SKYWATCHERS of the Kingston Observation post are urged to attend this meeting and they may bring their friends and anyone interested in volunteering may do so at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Logan is making a special plea to the organizations and church groups to contact her and arrange for them to take this important Civil Defense work as a project. The Ground Observer Corps is the only part of Civil Defense that is on active duty twenty-four hours a day, therefore it is important that more volunteers must be trained in advance in the event a critical emergency should arise.

THE GROUND OBSERVERS are to be complimented for the fine work they did during the recent flood disaster. Mrs. Logan said that immediately her observers called her and volunteered to assist where needed. Many teen agers and adults gave their time during Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Logan asked those who have not volunteered please call Kingston 7913 or 1544 and join this fine patriotic group of citizens that has been guarding the city, homes and business places for the past three years on a 24 hour basis and will continue to do so. Mrs. Logan asks that volunteers register so that Skywatchers who have served from a hundred to 2,000 hours may be given a short vacation from service. She will give information at any time by calling 7913.

The class will be known as the William F. Warner Memorial Class in honor of the late commander-in-chief of the Albany Sovereign Consistory who was an outstanding Mason.

AMONG the county leaders who are actively sponsoring the memorial class are Gordon A. Craig and Herbert Powell of Kingston.

Candidates from Masonic Blue Lodges throughout the area will be initiated in Scottish Rite Lodge of Perfection and Princes of Jerusalem and Chapter of Rise Croix on October 29 at Albany Masonic Temple. They will be initiated in the Consistory and receive the 32nd degree at Albany Temple on November 12. Special buses have been chartered to transport candidates from Kingston on both days. They will be entertained and have dinner at Albany Temple.

IBM WORDWRITER UNDER TESTS—A typist wires a control panel which she will install in the IBM Electric Wordwriter, an experimental device announced by the Electric Typewriter Division of International Business Machines Corp. The device is capable of typing any one of forty-two 18 character words or phrases at a single typing stroke. It operates at speeds of more than 150 words a minute. The machine is a result of IBM's electric typewriter research program to explore the ultimate possibilities of the electric typewriter. There are no present plans for marketing the Wordwriter. The secret of the machine is the memory-control panel, such as the one being wired above. The panel, which controls the Wordwriter's operation, is placed in the "brain" of the machine located in the drawer of the desk. The panel is easily wired by the typist to store stock phrases and items that recur in her daily typing routine. The typewriter may be used as a standard IBM electric typewriter, but a slight pressure of a foot pedal under the desk converts it into the Wordwriter.

ployed there more than 25 years. In the group here, usual order, are James Kennedy, Julietta Whitaker, two of the new members, Mr. Smith, former president, Mr. Palen, new president, and Jeannette Corcoran and Leo McGrath, two new members. (Freeman photo)

Camera Fans Are Invited to Model Rail Club Oct. 27

Camera fans in the Hudson Valley will be given an opportunity to "try their hand" at "shooting" miniature scenery on Thursday evening, October 27, when the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc. will hold open house at the club quarters, 541 Broadway, for camera fans only.

"Admission to our miniature railroad on October 27 will be by camera only," said club president Walter W. Phillips. "Camera fans will be allowed to bring and use all the equipment necessary to shoot their pictures. Only camera fans will be allowed to attend on this night because expensive equipment utilized in taking pictures would be jeopardized by the attendance of others," said Mrs. Phillips.

THE IDEA to offer a special evening for camera fans at the miniature railroad club came from Miss Charlotte McGraw, associated with photography locally for some time. Through the cooperation of Miss McGraw, invitations to camera clubs in this area have been sent out.

Either static pictures or motion pictures, in black and white or color, will be taken by the camera enthusiasts of the miniature scenery of the local club.

The scenery at the local club received first prize in a nationwide contest held several years ago, and since that time an addition to the club has been erected and the scenery extended. The late William Marnett was the creator of the majority of the scenery at the Kingston Model Railroad Club Inc., with other club members in the persons of Lawrence Casey, Lewis S. Brown, Ralston Munson, and Henry P. Eighmey assisting in the scenic efforts.

Strong Spiritual, Physical Stand Stressed in Talk

Dr. Michael Dorizas, three-time Olympic heavyweight wrestling champion, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania since 1918, told Kiwanis yesterday that in the world ideological struggle "what we need is for us to be very strong" — both physically and spiritually.

HE SAID that every time this country had used force the Communists had given ground. Dr. Dorizas called attention to basic Communist precepts and said that it took away the initiative of the people. It is an emphatic article of Communist faith that ultimately its political structure shall dominate the world, he pointed out.

He said that at the bottom of much of the confusion in the world today could be found the machinations of Communist conspiracy.

HE EXPRESSED faith that no matter how many lies the Soviet peoples have been told ultimately they will learn the truth. He described a conversation he had with a member of the Red Army in Russia in 1929 during which the soldier told him he attended an indoctrination class on international affairs.

THE SPOKESMAN said Watson noted also that the Albany meeting was only one of a number of conferences called by the commission in an effort to get views from as many persons as possible.

In addition to the conferences, a voluminous amount of written material has been submitted to the commission. Watson explained that, in preparation of its report for the governor, the commission will review all material submitted to it as well as views expressed at the conferences.

79 Arrests Made During September

A total of 79 arrests were made in the city during the month of September according to the report submitted by Chief Raymond Van Buren to the monthly meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday.
